STANDARD CONDITIONS OF SUPERVISION

As part of your probation, you must comply with the following standard conditions of supervision. These conditions are imposed because they establish the basic expectations for your behavior while on supervision and identify the minimum tools needed by probation officers to keep informed, report to the court about, and bring about improvements in your conduct and condition.

1. You must report to the probation office in the federal judicial district where you are authorized to reside within 72 hours of the time you were sentenced, unless the probation officer instructs you to report to a different probation office or within a different time frame.
2. After initially reporting to the probation office, you will receive instructions from the court or the probation officer about how and when you must report to the probation officer, and you must report to the probation officer as instructed.
3. You must not knowingly leave the federal judicial district where you are authorized to reside without first getting permission from the court or the probation officer.
4. You must answer truthfully the questions asked by your probation officer.
5. You must live at a place approved by the probation officer. If you plan to change where you live or anything about your living arrangements (such as the people you live with), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
6. You must allow the probation officer to visit you at any time at your home or elsewhere, and you must permit the probation officer to take any items prohibited by the conditions of your supervision that he or she observes in plain view.
7. You must work full time (at least 30 hours per week) at a lawful type of employment, unless the probation officer excuses you from doing so. If you do not have full-time employment you must try to find full-time employment, unless the probation officer excuses you from doing so. If you plan to change where you work or anything about your work (such as your position or your job responsibilities), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer at least 10 days in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
8. You must not communicate or interact with someone you know is engaged in criminal activity. If you know someone has been convicted of a felony, you must not knowingly communicate or interact with that person without first getting the permission of the probation officer.
9. If you are arrested or questioned by a law enforcement officer, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours.
10. You must not own, possess, or have access to a firearm, ammunition, destructive device, or dangerous weapon (i.e., anything that was designed, or was modified for, the specific purpose of causing bodily injury or death to another person such as nunchakus or tasers).
11. You must not act or make any agreement with a law enforcement agency to act as a confidential human source or informant without first getting the permission of the court.
12. You must follow the instructions of the probation officer related to the conditions of supervision.

CASE NUMBER: 1:23CR00658-001 (CM)

SPECIAL CONDITIONS OF SUPERVISION

Defendant is to be supervised in his district of residence. In addition to the standard conditions of probation, the following special conditions apply:

You must participate in an outpatient mental health treatment program approved by the United States Probation Office. (Probation should allow defendant to continue his treatment with his current psychiatrist, who defendant has been seeing for many years.). You must continue to take any prescribed medications unless otherwise instructed by the health care provider. You must contribute to the cost of services rendered based on your ability to pay and the availability of third-party payments. The Court authorizes the release of available psychological and psychiatric evaluations and reports, including the presentence investigation report, to the health care provider.

You shall not contact, attempt to contact or pursue any kind of interaction with the individuals whose names are listed on the schedule A to the old deferred prosecution agreement. That is a list of the people in whose names you obtained absentee ballots. Now, when I say contact, I mean no contact. I mean no hang up phone calls, no calls in which you don't speak, no leaving voicemails.

In terms of restrictions on computer access, I am sensible of the Second Circuit's rulings that any restriction on accessing public information be carefully and narrowly tailored to the circumstances of the crime. Accordingly, you cannot access any board of elections websites for the purpose of obtaining information about any individual voter or ordering absentee ballots for any individual voter. This means that if there is general demographic information on a board of elections website about voting patterns in neighborhoods, you can access that. It is available to the public. It won't violate the terms of your supervision. But if you start snooping around the board of election website to find out information about people, specific people, that is prohibited. And you certainly may not order any absentee ballots.

Probation will be able to put monitoring devices on your computer and your phone at least through the first year in order to make sure that you are not using those devices for prohibited purposes. You have to consent to the probation officers monitoring your usage of any such computer phone or device. If your probation officer, the U.S. Attorney's office, the FBI, or any other law enforcement office, including any federal or state election office learns that any ballot for any election was sent to any address that is associated with you (other than a ballot that may have been requested by say your dad), or if they have any reason to believe that you have contacted or tried to contact or pursued interaction with any of the people on that schedule A, including the people that you knew when you were a kid or members of their families or their households, or that you sought to obtain, compiled or you used any of their personal information, then the probation officer may immediately search your residence, your electronic devices and your online accounts, everything that you use in the preceding six months. That is a less restrictive search condition than the general search condition, but it is really not that different because if there is a belief that you violated the terms of your probation, the probation officer can come in and search all of your electronic devices. But you cannot -- because I said you could go on the board of elections website -- obtain somebody's personal information. In fact, just as a general rule, do not go on any website and obtain somebody's personal information, including but not limited to date of birth, zip code, phone number, or most especially social security number. And you have to let your probation officer know of any lists you may have of personal identifying information of people who are not you and the members of your family.

The court is not imposing a travel restriction.

Nor is the Court imposing a work requirement.
